A job at Provider Health Services is a whole different experience. It's less of a job, more of a calling. Because whatever you do here, you play a part in helping redefine the way quality long-term healthcare is delivered to seniors.

We seek the best healthcare professionals (HCPs). Achievers and leaders. Passionate and exceptional people. In return, we provide everyone who works here with unparalleled opportunities to exercise their responsibility and integrity, while growing themselves and building a valuable and rewarding career.

While we're always looking to add a variety of quality HCPs to our team, nurse practitioners, in particular, play a key role at PHS in helping change how quality long-term healthcare is delivered to seniors.

Being a PHS nurse practitioner is a unique and rewarding life-changing opportunity that can truly make a difference for patients and their families – and your career. You're part nurse practitioner, part entrepreneur, part steward, part liaison. You are the face of our company, empowered to carry out our Clinical Mission. You'll work as a member on an interdisciplinary team that consists of physicians, medical directors and other HCPs in care facilities and hospitals to provide a higher acuity of care for our seniors in a variety of long-term care settings.

Revolutionizing Senior Care. Transforming Lives.

You'll manage care for patients, see acute problems, manage chronic diseases, evaluate patients after a hospitalization, follow any skin integrity problems until resolved, analyze laboratory values (including Coumadin therapy with close monitoring of PT/INR and diabetic patients to achieve optimal glucose control), work with the pharmaceutical recommendations, consider dietary recommendations, and update history/physical assessments annually. Depending on each state's regulations, you can make scheduled weekly or monthly rounds, often alternating with the facility's medical director to assist in care for these patients. You'll also serve as a vital communications link for keeping physicians, care facilities and families informed as to the patient's well-being.

As part of our commitment to you, we'll assist in helping deliver this care through supportive efforts to expand your educational pursuits, practice development and clinical expertise.

In the end, we believe that a career at Provider Health Services leaves you a better person than when you first walked through our doors. It will change your life and the lives of everyone you touch.
